Wisdom from Pope Francis:

The secret of Christian living is love. Only love fills the empty spaces caused by evil. Let the Church always be a place of mercy and hope, where everyone is welcomed, loved, and forgiven. If our hearts and actions are inspired by charity, by divine love, then our communication will be touched by God's own power.

Thanks

Thanks to all who helped with the celebration of St. Barbara Feast and the Breakfast with Santa. It was wonderful to see so many parishioners and friends who participated in the festivities.

Thanks to all who helped with this year's Christmas mailing. Our dedicated volunteers and staff once again did an amazing job

Renewing Our Love for the Eucharist

Our Parish Liturgy Committee has decided to offer “Teaching Mass” to our parishioners at all the masses on this weekend at St. Therese Site and next weekend at St. Barbara Site. We hope this offers us an opportunity as a faith community to grow in our understanding of the Mass and therefore be inspired to participate “fully, consciously and actively.”

The Second Vatican Council clearly reminds us that the Eucharist is “the source and summit of Christian life.” In the Eucharist, we partake Christ himself, the Living Bread who continues to nourish us and feed us.

The Vatican II Constitution on Sacred Liturgy also firmly states that Christ is “really, truly and substantially” present in the Eucharist and there are six ways Jesus is really present in the liturgy: “there is a real presence of Christ in the ministry of the word, there is a real presence of Christ in the liturgical assembly, there is a real presence of Christ in the priest in liturgical service, there is a real presence of Christ in the souls of the just, there is a real presence of Christ in the sacraments, and finally, there is a real presence of Christ in the Eucharist.”

Pope Francis in his recent letter titled, On the Liturgical Formation of the People of God, invites all the faithful to reflect on the following two questions:

How can we grow in our capacity to live in full the liturgical action?

How do we continue to let ourselves be amazed at what happens in the celebration under our very eyes?

I hope our parish's Teaching Mass can help us individually and collectively to renew our knowledge as well as our appreciation for the Eucharist.

Peace, Fr. Francis

LIVING A GODLY LIFE by Fr. John Cuff

Two men, Charlie and Roger, got together and opened a butcher shop. The business did quite well and they prospered. One day a preacher came to town, and Charlie gave his life to Christ. He tried to persuade Roger to accept Christ also, but to no avail. "But why won't you, Roger?" asked the newly baptized Charlie. "Listen, Charlie," Roger said. "If I get religion too, who's going to take care of the store on Sundays?" To his credit Roger understood that believing in Christ implies a radical change in one's life.

Many people who identify themselves as Christians don't seem to realize this point. According to a 1987 US Gallup poll, there's little difference in moral behavior between people who go to church and people who don't. There's as much pilfering and dishonesty among Christians as among non-Christians. Indeed, some Christians seem to think that we can add Christ to our lives without subtracting sin. Accepting Jesus as one's personal Lord and Savior is seen as simply changing one's belief, and not so much with changing one's behavior. How often have we heard it said, "Only believe, and you will be saved?"

In today's Gospel we have a unique insight into the preaching of John the Baptist. His preaching of the good news has two parts: (a) the invitation to live a Godly life, and (b) the invitation to believe in Jesus the Messiah. The invitation to live a Godly life is the first element in his preaching. People who heard John preach asked, "What then should we do?" To the crowds his answer was: "Whoever has two coats must share with anyone who has none; and whoever has food must do likewise." To the tax collectors he answered: "Collect no more than the amount prescribed for you." To the soldiers he answered: "Do not extort money from anyone by threats or false accusation, and be satisfied with your wages." Thus, accepting the Gospel demands a change in one's personal conduct. The Gospel is a leaven that affects every aspect of our personal and social life. To really repent is to turn from evil and do good. One becomes a person who loves to share, rather than only seeking to accumulate the good things of life.

As we prepare to celebrate Christmas, let us admit that the basic problem with Christian faith today is that, while we profess to believe, we often do not match it with practical behavior. This self-contradiction constitutes a stumbling block for would-be believers who are often attracted by the person and teachings of Christ, but are turned away by the conduct of those who claim to be his followers. John prepared his listeners for the coming of Jesus by challenging them to mend their ways and believe His message. The best preparation we can make for the birth of our Savior is to repent and guide our behavior by the selfless teachings of the Gospel, so that we can stand with heads raised high in joy at the coming of our Lord, Jesus Christ.

Faith Filled Following of Jesus by Sr. Caritas

Many times, we hear about someone who is a great speaker. We want to go and hear them speak. We are drawn to hear them and speak to others about how good they were. In the Gospel today, we hear about something similar. John, who was in prison, sent his disciples to ask Jesus a question. "Are you the one or should we look for another?" In the scriptures some of the writings describe some of the signs that will be happening when the Messiah comes. The people were looking for the Messiah but were not thinking about the signs that would accompany His coming. The disciples asked Jesus the question. "Are you the one who is to come?" Jesus did not answer their questions directly. He reminded them of what the scripture foretold, what would accompany the coming of the Messiah. They were having trouble recognizing Jesus as the Messiah even though He worked miracles and even brought people back to life after they were dead. Would they have believed if Jesus had answered their question more directly? Maybe not. Jesus directs them to the answer to their question and lets them find the answer which would require faith. It is faith after all, which helps us recognize and believe in Jesus and follow Him.

So it is with us. People can tell us the answers but unless we search for the answer or recognize the answer, our response will not be clear. It is a faith filled answer and response which helps us recognize, believe and follow Jesus. It is up to us to respond with a faith filled response. This is what gives us a clear direction to turn directly and completely to Jesus. It is faith that helps us to really listen to the words of Jesus. It gives us the strength to follow him. Have you sought and followed the answer to your question, "Are you the one who is to come?" Does your faith give you the strength and direction to completely follow? Ask and you will receive.

RESPECT LIFE

Quotes – * “Having received the gift of the Gospel of Life, we are the people of life and a people for life. It is our duty to proclaim the Gospel of Life to the world. To proclaim Jesus is to proclaim life itself. Gratitude and joy at the incomparable dignity of the human person impel us to bring the Gospel of life to the hearts of all people and make it penetrate every part of society.” — USCCB Secretariat of Pro-Life Activities, “The Gospel of Life: A Brief Summary.”

Our Prayers – * For all the faithful: May the Lord help us build a culture of life in vigilant expectation of His return; We pray to the Lord: * May God help us prepare the way of the Lord by acting with tenderness and compassion, especially toward the most vulnerable among us; We pray to the Lord:

Chicago, IL 60608-5922

Dear Father Francis,

Thank you and your parishioners for your gift to Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Chicago. Your gift will allow us to provide more help, resources, and healing than ever before.

We are called to serve and accompany the vulnerable, the suffering, and the overlooked; strengthen and empower people, families, and communities; foster an awareness of our shared humanity; and challenge indifference. With your gift, you have demonstrated true compassion and a commitment to those in need.

Thank you for helping us care for one person, one heart at a time.

Sincerely,

Melissa Mares Stambor
Sr. Director, Advancement Operations
